

MORE ON LORIMER CASE

La Follette Supposed to Have Information

HE WILL SPEAK MONDAY

On Plan for New Investigation—Senate To-day Prepared for an Explosion—Resolution Before the Body for a Few Minutes.

Washington, May 5.—Senator La Follette of Wisconsin gave notice to the Senate yesterday that early in the coming week he would submit certain information and observations as to the reasons why his resolution for a re-investigation of the Lorimer case should be passed. Senator La Follette is known to possess information in connection with the charges of bribery in the Lorimer election. Some of this has been brought in the Illinois investigation and some of it has not. It is expected that when he speaks, probably Monday, he will give an interesting summary of the chief information in support of the bribery charge and that he will make strong demand for a new inquiry.

The Lorimer case came up in the Senate for a brief time yesterday and it caused a few tense minutes. Everybody held his breath perceiving it was possible that there would be a general explosion over the case. The feeling in the Senate is more intense than ever over it, and now that there are signs of the whole row will break loose again, symptoms of an ugly temper are not wanting.

The question came up yesterday when the committee on contingent expenses made its report through its chairman, Senator Briggs of New Jersey. The committee reported the La Follette resolution favorably so far as meeting the expenses of the investigation is concerned. But it was careful to say that in doing so it made no recommendation as to whether the investigation should be made by the special committee provided in the resolution, by the privileges and elections committee, or whether it should be made at all, and that this was for the Senate to decide.

Vice President Sherman asked if there was objection to the present consideration of the resolution when Senator La Follette arose and after securing the recognition of the chair with some difficulty, asked that the resolution lie on the table. He gave notice at the same time of his intention to address the Senate on the subject. The matter was allowed to go over accordingly. Senator Dillingham, chairman of privileges and elections, was moving to refer it to his committee, but deferred this until Senator La Follette asks consideration of the measure. When he does a sharp debate is expected.

FREE LIST DEBATED

Hill of Connecticut Attacks Measure

A HELP TO THE TRUSTS

He Declared That It Would Make Reduction of $50,000 in Revenue—Underwood Interrupts the Speaker.

Washington, May 5.—Not since the Republican guns were unlimbered against the Democratic free list bill by minority leader Mann, over a week ago, has the debate in the House developed such an attack on the measure as was made yesterday by Representative Hill of Connecticut, a Republican member of the ways and means committee, and one of the leading Republican advocates of the Canadian reciprocity bill.

Mr. Hill declared that the bill was so crudely drawn and so indefinite in its terms that no estimate could be made of the revenues it would cut off or the effect it would have on business and commerce. He declared that instead of $10,000,000 reduction in revenue, as the Democrats expected, it might make a reduction of $50,000,000, and that its effect on business would be to transfer many flourishing industries to Europe.

"You intended to hit the trusts," said Mr. Hill to the Democrats; "you will wake up and find that you have in fact helped the trusts; taken away the revenues of the government, and put the money into the pockets of the trusts instead of into the pockets of the people whom you claim to be helping."

Mr. Hill explained that the International Harvester Machine company, the large sewing machine companies, and other great manufacturers would be able under the Democratic bill to manufacture parts of their machines cheaply abroad and bring them into this country to be assembled by cheap labor here. Mechanics and skilled labor would suffer loss of employment, he said.

He declared that the Democratic bill was so general in terms as to admit almost anything free of duty. Woolen goods, all kinds of wire, all sorts of fabrics, zinc, lead, pig iron and a number of other things he specifically mentioned.

Mr. Hill particularly attacked the bill for making many manufactured products free of duty, like shoes, harness, saddlery and the like, leaving a duty against the raw materials that American manufacturers have to import.

Chairman Underwood of the ways and means committee interjected that Mr. Hill's whole argument was from the standpoint of the American manufacturer; that its real purpose was "to reduce prices and cost of living for the American people."

Mr. Hill declared that the reductions would in almost every case be taken up by the big corporations that control the markets. The speech was enlivened by many interruptions.

Mr. Focht of Pennsylvania, also against the bill, had a tilt with Mr. Sims of Tennessee, who objected to Mr. Focht's statement that the tariff debate in the extra session was costing the country $10,000 a minute. Mr. Sims said the expense to the country would be the same whether the House was in session or not.

Mr. Focht predicted an early invasion of Mexico, saying an army officer associated with him had told him that the army was going over the Mexican border "to stay." He contended that the United States wanted empire and it was about to follow the "lure of gold and the call of adventure."

PENROSE WITH TAFT.

Says He Will Help Along the Reciprocity Agreement.

Washington, May 5.—President Taft left yesterday afternoon for Philadelphia, where he attended the banquet of the Philadelphia Medical society last night. Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania made arrangements at the White House yesterday to accompany the president, in order that he might have a conference with him concerning the consideration of the reciprocity measure, which is now before the Senate finance committee, of which Senator Penrose is chairman. Mr. Penrose said yesterday that as chairman of the finance committee he would support the bill and would give the administration all the aid possible to secure votes in the Senate for its passage. The president returned from Philadelphia at midnight last night.

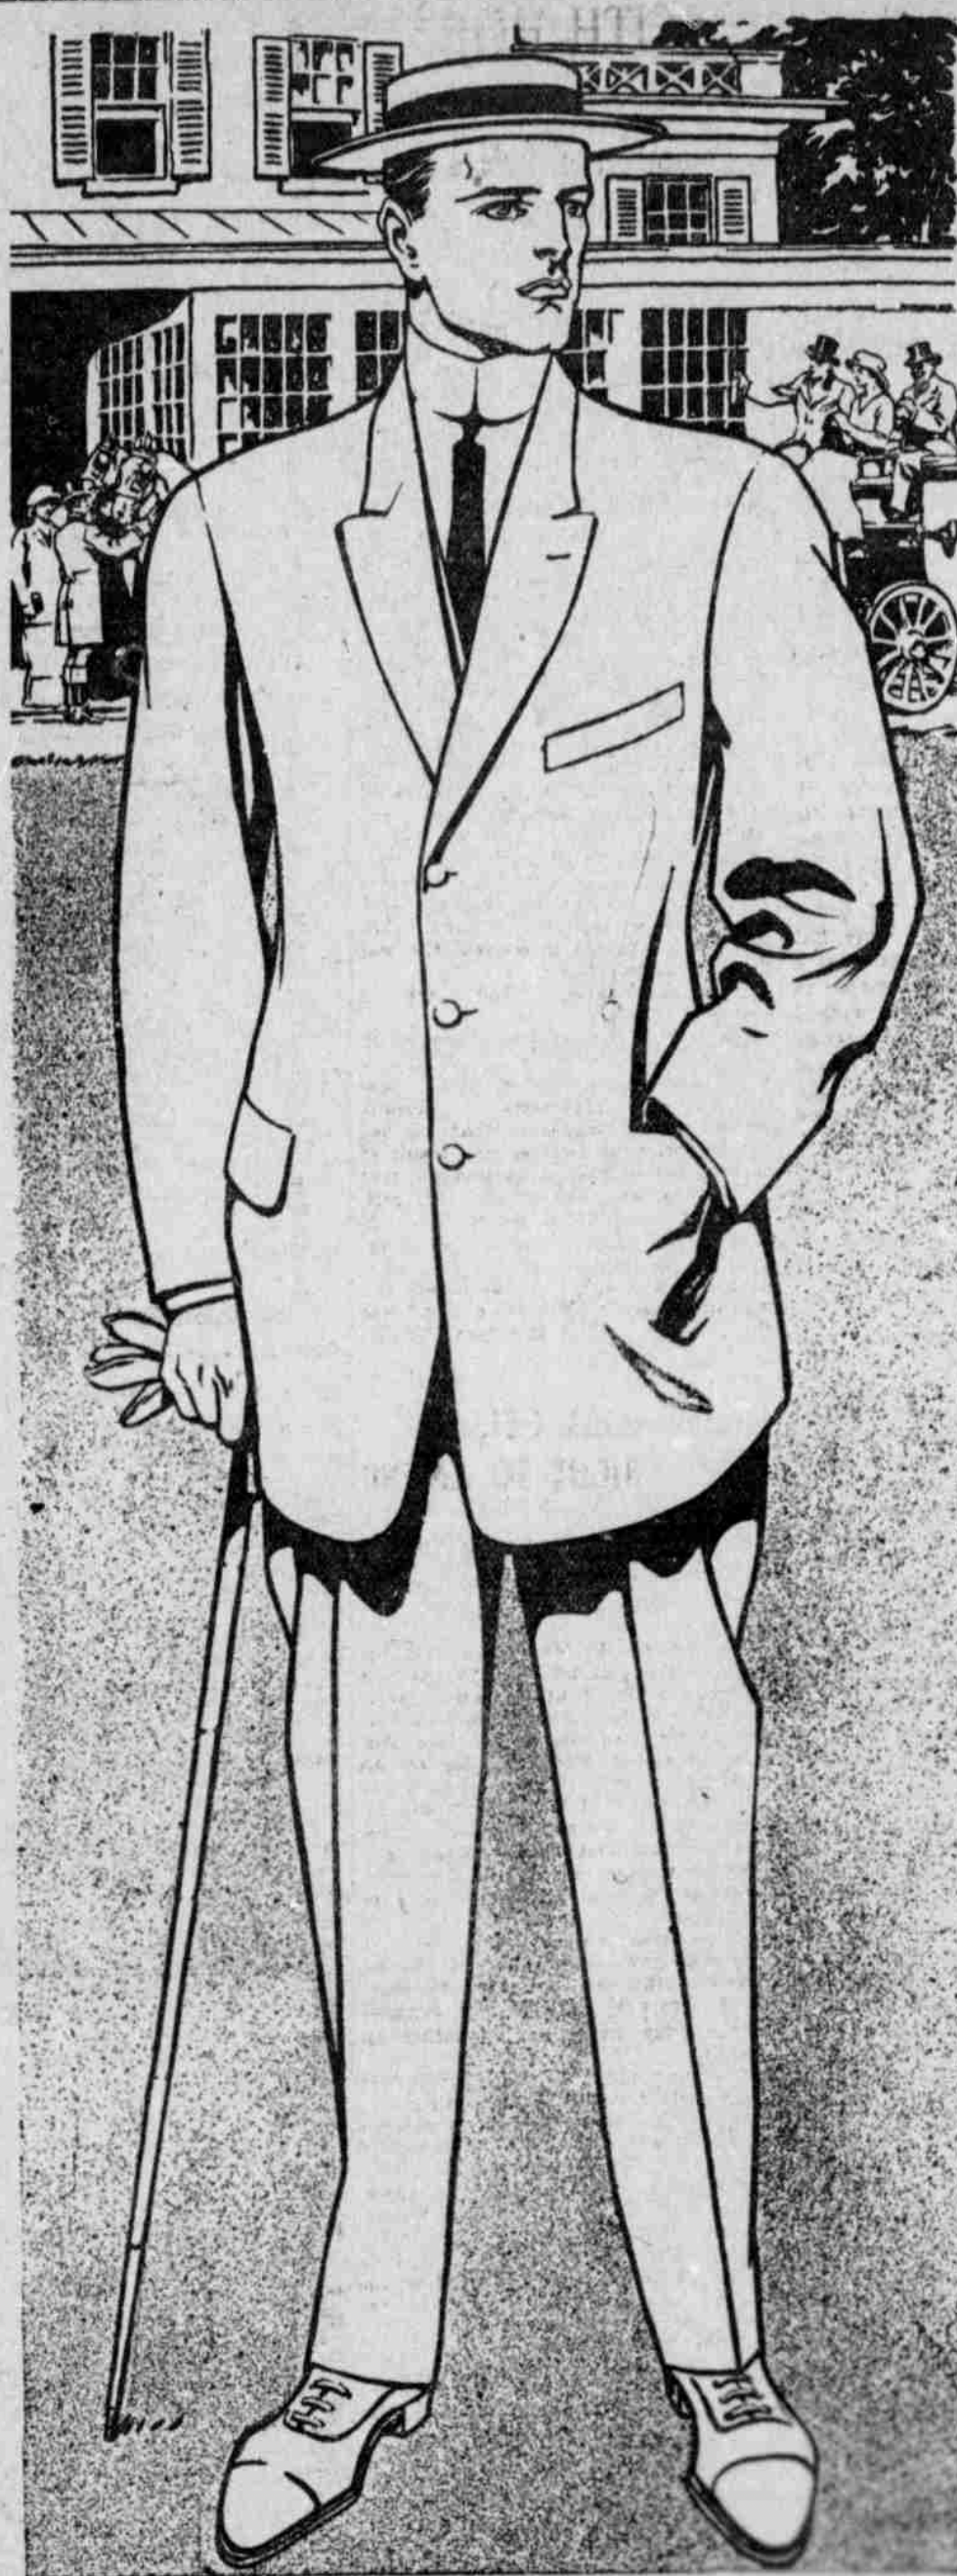

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, Member of South Dakota, Townsend of Michigan and Nelson of Minnesota have made requests at the White House for audiences with the president to present constituents from their districts who desire to oppose the reciprocity bill.

SUGAR INQUIRY.

Washington, May 5.—The House committee on rules, after considering for several hours yesterday the Hardwick resolution proposing an investigation of the American Sugar Refining company, appointed a sub-committee consisting of Representatives Hardwick of Georgia, Tamm of North Carolina and Lenroot of Wisconsin to redraft the resolution so as to include other sugar refining companies.

The resolution in the form in which it will be reported by the rules committee will call for an investigation of practically the entire sugar refining industry.

TO STUDY TARIFF BOARD

Value of Its Work to Be Ascertained

A STEP FOR PERMANENCY

Business Men Authorized to Investigate—President Taft Invites Criticism and Also Suggestions.

Washington, May 5.—President Taft yesterday authorized the tariff board to submit to an investigation at the hands of a committee of business men connected with the national tariff commission association. This is another step on the part of the advocates of permanent tariff commission to popularize the work of the present board and to pave the way, if possible, for the creation of a permanent tariff commission. President Taft's action was taken at the request of John C. Cobb, president of the tariff commission association. Mr. Cobb asked for the investigation for the purpose of enabling his association "to consider and decide whether the work and experience of the board indicates the desirability of any changes in the form of legislation which we ask of Congress in our advocacy of legislation to make permanent the idea of an independent commission."
